

Iraq:

PEOPLE OF PROMISE, LAND OF DESPAIR

"In this beautiful but sad book, Canon Andrew White tenderly narrates the story of the suffering and dignity of the people of Iraq caught up in a nightmare of pain and agony beyond our understanding ... Andrew is well-equipped to tell this story because he knows the Middle East well and has an amazing track record of faith in action and of Christian compassion that moves beyond words and slogans into political engagement."

FROM THE FOREWORD BY LORD GEORGE CAREY

Since 1998 Canon Andrew White has been a frequent visitor to Iraq on behalf of the International Reconciliation ministry of Coventry Cathedral. He has spent a great deal of time travelling throughout the nation, witnessing at first hand the plight of ordinary Iraqi's, as well as engaging with the senior religious and political leadership. In this book he tells the story of his encounters with the people of Iraq and gives vital insight into the current situation from a Christian perspective.

About the author:

Andrew White is the Director of the International Centre for Reconciliation at Coventry Cathedral. The Centre is responsible for heading up programs of conflict resolution and prevention in many areas of conflict including Israel/Palestine, Iraq and Nigeria. With his co-director he is also responsible for the oversight of the Community of the Cross of Nails - a network of 250 organisations in 60 countries committed to reconciliation.
